

INTRODUCING LIVING PLANT IMMUNITY:
The revolutionary natural technology for pig digestive health.

YES, THERE IS AN ALTERNATIVE!

The active ingredients in Grazix technology are based on living plant immunity. A complex system primarily based on polyphenols, naturally found in most plants, and extracted through our patented processes, is bio-activated by enzymes indicative of cellular damage in the animals’ digestive tract. The bio-active polyphenols are thousands of times more potent than other natural feed additives, while remaining as safe as food, since they are used in concentrations similar to those naturally found in living plant cells. They have been proven safe and effective in numerous studies conducted around the world. Consider the following examples of summary results:

Our technical support staff are ready to share with you many more such examples of results of these strictly monitored studies, that point to the safety and efficacy of this remarkable nature-based technology.

Please contact Grazix Animal Health, Inc. at 888-510-5568 or at info@grazix.com for more details on how Grazix technology works, how it has been tested, and how it may help your production environment.