

Cervidae - M

Natural Digestive Health Solution for Newborn Fawns

YES, THERE IS AN ALTERNATIVE!

Get your fawns on the right track from the start.

It is never too soon to give your newborn fawns the extra edge they need to get on the thriving curve. Give them Cervidae-M during the first few days.

Ready to use. No stock solutions, no diluting.

Cervidae-M comes in a handy bottle with enough product for 30 fawns per day. Feeding each fawn 15 ml of this ready-to-use solution in milk replacement, twice a day, for 3 or 4 days, is all it takes to give it the full benefit of Grazix.

Don't wait until you see the need.

The truth is, challenges to your fawns' digestive health can start right at birth. Why wait until the problems start growing in your farm? Grazix Cervidae-M has been shown in field trials around the world to help maintain normal digestive function in various challenging environments.

Innovation that goes straight to the bottom line.

Cervidae-M is a careful blend of vitamin B1, known to alleviate the effects of stress, and LiveXtract®, a revolutionary technology developed by LiveLeaf®.

Safe, natural and economical.

The ingredients used in Grazix products are thoroughly tested and proven as a safe and effective alternative to help maintain natural digestive balance in delicate animals born and raised in challenging production environments.

Product Ordering Information:

Net Contents: 900 ml (30.4 oz) per bottle

Product code: ITM-13606 (case of 6 bottles)

Get the most out of Grazix!

For maximum production benefits, we recommend that you make the administration of Grazix Cervidae-M part of your standard operating procedures, during the first few days of the life of your fawns. Protect your entire farm as early as possible!

Learn more:

Please contact Grazix Animal Health at 888-510-5568 or at info@grazix.com for more details on how Grazix products work, how carefully they are manufactured and tested, and how they can help optimize your production environment.

Grazix: the ultimate nutritional supplement™

Cervidae - M

Natural Digestive Health Solution for Newborn Fawns

Frequently Asked Questions

What is Cervidae-M?

Grazix Cervidae-M is a nutritional supplement specifically formulated to support the digestive health of newborn fawns. It contains vitamin B1, LiveXtract™ of pomegranate and LiveXtract™ of green tea.

How does Cervidae-M work?

Vitamin B1 is known for alleviating the effects of stress on animals, especially on their digestive system. The LiveXtract technology builds on a solid scientific foundation of studies showing the benefits of polyphenols on digestive health, and takes their positive effects to the next level. Pomegranate and green tea have been selected for being recognized as safe, and for their high content in polyphenols. The polyphenols are bio-activated and stabilized by the LiveXtract process. As a result, they can deliver the full benefits of living plant immunity to the digestive tract of the animals.

How do I prepare and feed Cervidae-M? When should Cervidae-M be fed?

Cervidae-M should be mixed with milk replacement. For best results, each fawn should be fed 15 ml (1/2 oz) of Cervidae-M twice a day, for 3 or 4 days. One bottle contains enough product to supplement 30 fawns for one day. Start feeding Cervidae-M to your newborn fawns as soon after birth as practical.

Which fawns should be fed Cervidae-M?

Even though it is tempting to feed Cervidae-M only to those animals that appear stressed, the biggest health and business benefits can only be obtained if the entire herd is protected by this powerful solution. Do not wait until you see symptoms of stress spreading in your farm: make Cervidae-M a part of your standard operating procedure, and observe the returns.

Why should I use Cervidae-M?

Cervidae-M is a safe and effective alternative for maintaining the natural digestive health of your newborn fawns. Especially when used in the first few days of life on the entire farm, it will help keep them on the thriving curve. Ask us for more details on how Grazix products work, how carefully they are manufactured and tested, and how they can help you optimize your production environment.

Read more at: www.grazix.com

or call us at: 1-888-510-5568

Grazix: the ultimate nutritional supplement™